WEST VIRGINIA SUPREME COURT OF APPEALS

STATISTICAL ACTIVITY

1990

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The statistical summary depicted on page 3 lists the various applications filed, granted, refused, and the cases disposed and pending, according to the various case categories.

There were 1,623 applications filed with the court in 1990. Although this number was 414 less than the 1987 record, it still represents the third highest rate of filings recorded by the court. There were 841 compensation applications filed in 1987 but only 481 in 1990. When compensation applications are removed from consideration, the caseload of the court remained relatively constant during 1987, 1988, 1989, and 1990.

While there were 1,623 applications filed during 1990, the court actually reviewed 1,495 applications. Of the applications reviewed, 939 were refused and 556 were granted. The number of refusals by the court increased to 63% compared with a 56% refusal rate in 1987, a 56% refusal rate in 1988 and a 62% refusal rate in 1989.

Despite the high number of total applications, there were fewer cases granted in 1990 than in the previous year. The previous high of 789 applications granted occurred in 1988. The 1990 figure was the fifth highest at 556 cases accepted for hearing.

During 1987 and 1988 a great increase occurred in the number of cases that were disposed by order or opinion. The higher level of disposal continued into 1990. Prior to 1987 the highest disposal rate was 498 cases; in 1987 it jumped to 775. Disposal at this higher level continued in 1988 with 756 cases disposed, and 1989 with 702 cases disposed, making 1989 the third greatest year for case disposition and 1990 the fourth. Of the 647 cases disposed in 1990, 278 were by opinion, 287 by order, 61 were dismissed and 21 were withdrawn.

Total disposal in 1990 was 647 cases, maintaining the higher level of disposition established in recent years. With 939 cases refused and 647 cases disposed, the court actually completed handling of 1,586 cases. During this same period 1,623 applications were filed. The disposal ratio for the court was 0.977 during 1990, actually indicating that only 2.3% fewer cases were disposed than were filed. Besides the excellent disposal ratio, the court maintained a small pending caseload. There were only 303 granted cases still pending at the end of 1990, down from 353 at the end of 1989.

After five years of increasing applications, the number decreased in 1988.

In 1989 we once again saw a small increase. For 1990 there was only a very slight decrease in filings. In response to the continued high filings the court has maintained a high disposal rate and actually completed nearly 98% of the applications filed.

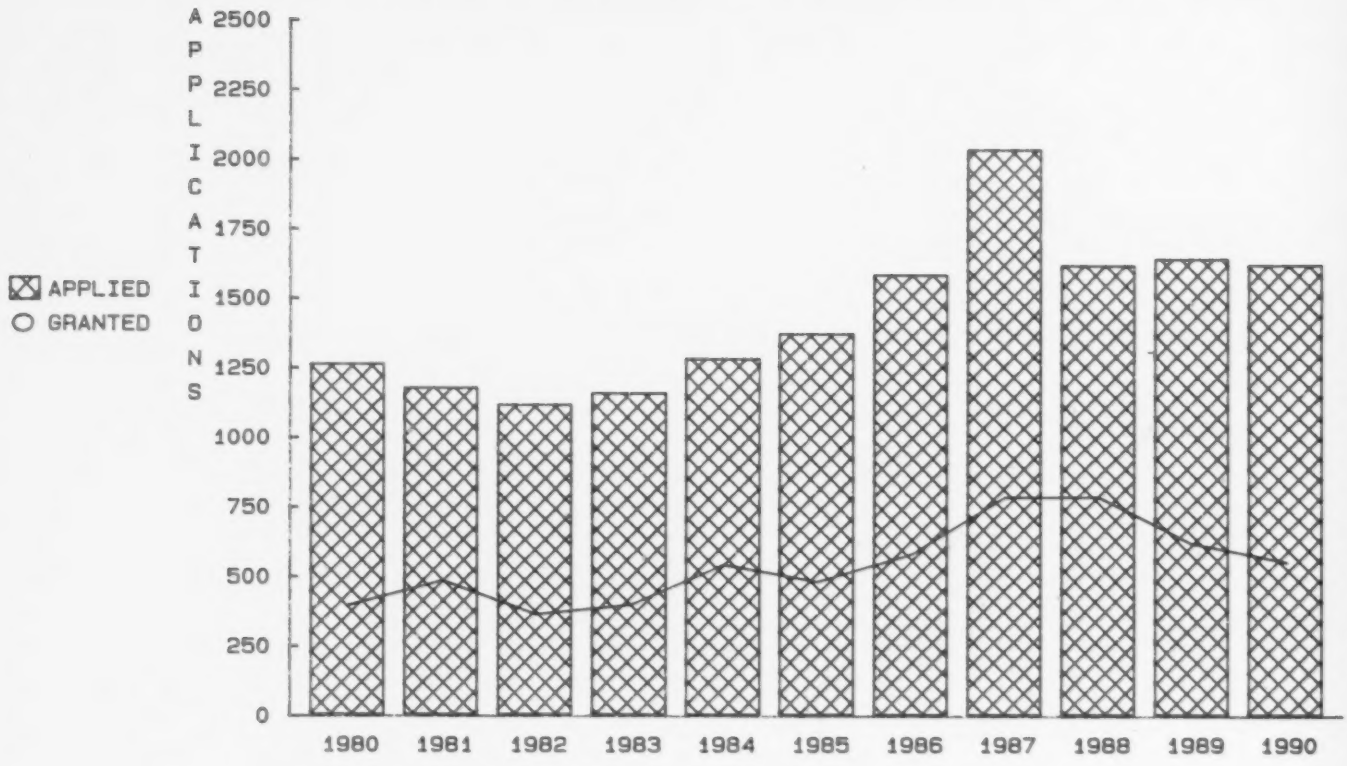
From 1983 through 1987 the number of applications to the court continued to grow. That trend was reversed in 1988 but resumed in 1989 and remained relatively stable in 1990. From a low of 1,116 in 1982, applications increased to 2,037 in 1987. With compensation applications returning to normal levels in 1989, the total applications received by the court dropped to 1,644. Filings of 1,623 in 1990 do not represent a significant change. In 1990 there were 556 applications granted for a 37% acceptance rate. This figure was down from the 38% acceptance rate in 1989.

SUPREME COURT APPLICATIONS



SUPREME COURT APPLICATIONS

From 1982 until 1987, applications to the court increased each year. The number of applications decreased to 1,621 in 1988. In 1989 a small increase was once again registered with 1,644 applications. The 1990 filings of 1,623 cases indicates a consistent level since 1988. If the unusually large number of workers compensation cases affecting the 1987 and 1988 figures are discounted, a steady increase in all other cases categories can be measured from 1982 through 1989 with figures stabilizing in 1990.

Year	1980	1981	1982	1983	1984	1985	1986	1987	1988	1989	1990
Applications	1,262	1,178	1,116	1,159	1,282	1,372	1,585	2,037	1,621	1,644	1,623
Granted	397	485	365	399	543	483	580	785	789	620	556

During 1990 the number of applications to the court decreased slightly with the largest decrease coming in the area of compensation filings. There were 47 fewer compensation cases filed in 1990 than in 1989. Criminal applications actually increased by 24 in 1990 but all other categories remained very close to their levels of 1989. Other than the changes in compensation and criminal filings the number of applications was very constant from 1989 through 1990.

During 1990 there were 647 fully matured cases disposed by the court. There were 278 cases disposed by opinion. This figure represents the third highest number of cases disposed by opinion in one year and is only exceeded by the 1982 figure of 316 opinions and the 1989 figure of 281 opinions.

The number of cases disposed by order was the fourth greatest recorded by the court. There were 287 orders entered in 1990. The only years that produced more orders were 1987, 1988, and 1989 when the larger number of Worker's Compensation orders were entered.

In 1990 there were 61 cases dismissed by the court. This number of dismissals is only exceeded by the 91 dismissed in 1988, and the 71 dismissed in 1989. During 1990, 21 cases were withdrawn.

During 1990 case disposal times were very near the disposal times for 1989. In 1989 the average processing time for a case was 483 days; in 1990 that time was 475 days. During most of the steps in processing a case, the time periods were very close to the 1989 figures. The time from submission of the case until the issue of the order or opinion decreased by 8 days from 100 days to 92 days. This decrease was the most significant factor for the overall figures in 1990.

Since automated time studies were initiated in 1983 there has been great improvement in the processing times for appellate cases. The figures for 1990 remain in the range showing that improvement.
